

Our Region

Over a dozen Fortune 500 companies are operating here, and many smaller manufacturing, distribution and service industries enjoy an excellent return on their investments.

Strategically located with a working population of more than a quarter of a million, the Clinton Region is more than a business-friendly environment. The area is poised to become one of the fastest growing regions in the Midwest. Because we are a bi-state region, we can offer a variety of state and community options that other regions cannot.
